Sahar Ariel

About Me

I am an ambitious and skilled individual with a strong foundation in technology, team management, and problem-solving.

Currently, I am expanding my knowledge in cybersecurity, specializing in penetration testing, and self-learning DevOps engineering. My strengths also include a solid grasp of networking and excellent interpersonal skills. I thrive in collaborative environments, excel at teamwork, and bring dedication and precision to every task I undertake.

My military service as a commander in the Israeli Navy has honed my leadership skills, technical expertise, and ability to operate effectively under pressure.
